

Comprehensive Employer Services for Healthcare

Helping progressive organizations attract, retain, and reward engaged workforces is our mission.

Wilson Albers, an Alera Group Company, has provided employee benefits, retirement plan, property & casualty, and human resource services to healthcare providers for over 50 years. We have actively engaged on local and national healthcare industry issues, giving us insight into the market in which healthcare providers operate, and the challenges they face as an employer. We help healthcare employers shape and execute workforce strategies for achieving your organization's goals.

Our personalized local approach means we take the time to truly understand your organization, then collaborate with you to develop strategies and solutions specific to your goals and needs. Strategies are critical, but experienced business people understand it's in execution where many initiatives stumble. Our collaboration with you continues through execution, where our hands-on approach, leading-edge practices, and technology, and focus on project management help drive achievement of your goals.

Together, let's join forces and develop an employer services plan tailored to your business needs, challenges, and future goals.
